suspected him and held him for the crowd.

Captured After a Long Search. For hours after the dead and herribly mutilated body of Miss W.lliams was found there was no clue to the perpetrators of the bcy, Anthony Williams, alias Bull, and that uspicion later became a certainty. In an incredibly short time the whole country around West Point was up in arms and searching for the negro. He was traced to Iron City, where it was learned that he had traded the young lady's belt to a negro woman at whose house he had spent the night. He was later seen at Pruitton and the mob there got within shooting distance two days, and running most of the time, so that he was in no condition to offer resistance. The crowd quickly decided to take him back to the scene of his brutal crime, tie him to the same tree that he had fled his victim when he assaulted her, and there give him a torturing death. The mob who meted out summary justice Davis Goes to the Penitentiary for Asto Anthony Williams was composed of the best and most substantial men of this section and their action is applauded by even the negroes. Seventy-five men went from Florence today to see the job well done. The victim of Williams' lust and murderous frenzy was a very attractive girl and was shortly to have been married to a young ran in Nashville. Her intended husband came down from Nashville today and was at West Point to meet the crowd of avengers and to assist in dealing out vengeance. When the crowd reached West Point they proceeded at once without ceremony and without disorder to carry, out the programme they had decided upon. The negro 193, Atlanta, Ha was too frightened and too much exhaust-

The young lady left her home early Tuesday morning to pick a few blackberries. When she did not re-

On the Central train from Atlanta, which reached Macon at 11:40 this morning, there arrived from Barnesville Mr. Campbell, the father of Williams's victim, accompanied by six or eight of his friends. Several of them had pistols in their outside pockets. The parties immediately on arrival called at the office of the chief of police and asked if Williams was in the barracks and said they desired to see him. The chief informed the men that Williams was in jail strongly guarded. The men then explained that they had not come to Macon with the view of doing violence to the prisoner, but simply desired to identify him. Mr. Campbell and his brother-in-law were carried to the jail to see Williams, while the others of Campbell's party, except Campbell's brother-in-law, were required to remain at police headquarters. Campbell was allowed to see Williams in his cage and he instantly identified the regro, and Williams promptly recognized and spoke to Mr. Campbell. Williams adbell says Williams had been working for him about six months. Williams is a tall twenty-one years old.

Roads by the Government.

Body Has a Long Debate Without Accomplishing Anything-Invitation Accepted.

Washington, July 15 .- Pacific railway affairs occupied the attention of the senate throughout the day and the Harris resolution relating to the pending judicial proceedings against the Union Pacific railroad finally went over until tomorrow Early in the day Senators Stewart and White indulged in sharp personalities in connection with the contest over the San Pedro, California, deep water harbor. The joint resolution was passed accepting the invitation of France to participate in the Paris exposition of 1900.

At 1 o'clock the senate went into executive session, but the doors were re-opened in fitteen minutes and the Harris resolution considered, the author speaking in favor of it. The resolution was laid aside temporarily and Mr. Tillman secured the passage of the bill in relation to the interstate transportation of distilled spirits and de-claring such spirits to be subject to state laws to the same extent as spirits distilled in the state. Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, then spoke in support of the Harris reso-

Mr. Allen was involved in frequent controversies with Mr. Gear. In the course of his remarks he urged government ownership and operation of the Union Pacific road, declaring that it would reduce passenger and freight rates from 50 to 60 per

Mr. Gear insisted that government ownership would increase passenger and freight rates 45 per cent. Mr. Gear asserted that the managers of the populist party had suppressed a report on government ownership of railroads after finding from statistics that it increased rates.

Mr. Butler, as chairman of the populist national committee, promptly denied the statement in toto. Mr. Tillman came in at one point with the statement that one-fifth of the railroads of the country were in the hands of the courts, which was analogous to government ownership. Why should not the president and executive authorities run a railway as well as an irresponsible judge? When Mr. Tillman referred to his observation, while governor, of the irregularities in judicial management, Mr. Gear sug

"That only shows the lack of morals in South Carolina. "No, it shows the lack of morals in the judiciary of the United States in controlling railroads," answered Mr. Tillman.

Mr. Allen had not concluded his speech on the Harris resolution when, at 5 o'clock, the senate adjourned. No Business in the House.

Washington, July 15.-No business was transacted by the bouse today. Immediately after the journal was approved a recess was taken on Mr. Cannon's motion, until tomorrow, Mr. Cannon having given assurances to Mr. Bailey that in his opinion a partial or complete conference report

She Gave Up Her Religion and Joined the Church to Which Her Lover Belonged-She's 21, He's 50.

Philadelphia, July 15 .- Dr. C. E. Cadwallader, the head of one of Philadelphia's oldest and most exclusive families, was married this afternoon in St. Paul's Epis-copal church to Bridget Mary Ryan, his former housemaid.

The marriage caused quite a sensation in society circles in this city. The bride came to this country five years ago from Tipperary, Ireland, and three years later entered the doctor's employ as housemaid. The doctor took more than an employer's interest in the fair Irish girl and finally proposed marriage. The young lady accepted and after vaing endeavoring to have the Roman Catho c church, of which she was a member waive all restrictions. Miss Ryan gave up her religion and joined St. Paul's Episco-pal church, of which Dr. Cadwallader is a vestryman. Dr. Charles E. Cadwallader is a descend ant of the famous John Cadwallader, the emigrant who arrived in America in 1697. A Cadwallader's genealogy is replete with fame and exclusiveness. His treasured ge-nealogical sheepskin, with lion rampant, contains the names of Lord and Lady Erskine, General John Cadwallader, of revolu-tionary fame; the Welsh Cadwalladers, who fought against Saladin under Coocur de Lion; Dr. Thomas Cadwallader, who, with Franklin, founded libraries and was prominent in early Philadelphia. The old Cadwallader mansion, at Fourth and Spruce streets, is one of the most interesting houses in Philadelphia from a ocial historic point of view. Oil paintings of the earlier Cadwalladers. by Stuart and Peale; Dr. Thomas Cadwalladers, in the revolutionary garb of a general; lovely women of the family tree adorn the portrait gallery. Many art pieces adorn the walls. The bride comes of poor, but respectable, Irish parents. She is twenty-one years of see, while her disis twenty-one years of age, while her distinguished husband has passed fifty. The couple left on a brief wedding trip tonight.

Absence of Democrat from Tennessee Gives the Vice President the Deciding Vote.

Washington, July 15 .- The tariff conferees were in a more hopeful mood during the early part of the day than yesterday, and one of the leading representatives of the senate expressed the opinion at noon that the republicans would be able to conclude their labors tomorrow and summon the democratic members by Saturday. This view, he said, was justified by the present appearance of things, but he added that there were still many contingencies that might arise to prevent so eafly an agree ment, and that it was impossible to say precisely when the end would be reached

"We shall come out all right, however, and I think soon," he added. "We have a tedious job, but it is not a hopeless one and there is no foundation to the reports that we are in danger of not reaching as The day was spent in considering mino

details of the bill, which have been passes over with an occasional reference to the differences on the sugar schedule, which is still the stumbling block. There was some discussion of a compromise on this schedule, and the general impression about the senate was that the changed aspect ! the committee was due to the fact that there was a more yielding disposition on the part of the representatives of both houses. Senators not in the conference but in close touch with the members of it, express the opinion today that the contending factions are very near an ment which will compromise the differences

On the house side, on the other hand. among those in close touch with the con-ferees, it is asserted with the utmost positiveness that the house conferees have no intention of yielding anything to the senate on the sugar schedule, and the opinion is freely expressed that the deadlock will continue indefinitely until the senate yields. The house conferees, they say, know that they have practically the unanimous support of the house republ cans back of them in their contention for the house schedule, and moreover they claim that many of the senate republicans agree with them on this point.

The committee made the discovery today that there would be still further difficulty in arranging the wool schedule on account of the objections of the carpet manufacturers. It appears that while the makers of the more expesive grades of carpets gave their assent to the compromise of 4 and 8 cents arranged yesterday, the makers of the cheaper carpets are not pleased, and ask that the rate on the lower grades of wool be reduced to 3 cents. The wool men are not willing to concede this demand. The worsted manufacturers are also making trouble over the senate amendment putting a double duty on wool of the sec-ond class, which may have been washed. Heretofore there has been no additional duty on the washed article, and it is claimed that the change will work a material hardship.

The democratic side of the chamber i somwhat disturbed over the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Harris.

"It | will be remembered," he continued, "that some of the articles on which we succeeded in reducing the rate of duty, as on white pine lumber, and on some which we succeeded in putting on the free list, we had a majority of only one vote. Some of these articles are burlaps, cotton ties, parls green, etc., are of immense importance to the farmers, and it would be regretable indeed, from our standpoint, if the absence of a democratic senator from Tennessee should cause us to lose any of them by giving the deciding vote to the vice president."

The senator said in reply to a question but he had heard nothing indicative of he intentions of the governor of Tennesee in the matter of the appointment.

Hoarse Guffaw-Strong Talk from the Populist Leader.

Washington, July 15.—(Special.)—Despite the efforts of Howard, of Alabama, to ex-plain, the populists of the west are giving the Nashville conference and the men who figured in it the hoarse guffaw. The men who are the leaders of populism where populism counts for something, laugh at the suggestions of the Nashville aggregation that the silver question is to be made secondary to any other and declare that not only will that action be repudiated by the populists of the west, but by all those members of the party in the south went into it from principle. As for the others— They are regarded simply as selfish schemers who want to keep the middle of-the-road in order that they, themselves may have some sort of political prominence There is no certain sound in the refer ences of the western leaders to them. "The party is infinitely better off without them than with them." they say. "They may succeed in fooling a few people a little longer, but their real character and their real purposes cannot fail to be understood As for Tom Watson-Well, while there are as a rule, friendly references to Tom personally, there is a deep-seated conviction that Tom needs a new party, that he has remained in the populist party as long as he could stay in any, that the sine qua non of the statesman from McDuffle is a party he can absolutely dominate, and that the people's party has outgrown that stage Jerry Laughs at Middle-of-the-Roaders Jerry Simpson, who has been down to Virginia beach buffetting with the waves and displaying his golf stockings to the gaze of the summer girl, has just returned Jerry is not one of those on the outside who look with longing eyes upon the feast within, and he does not have to slough off in order to find a contingency; he has beaind him the largest constituency in point of numbers of any member of the lower house of the congress, and he is recognized as the real leader of the populist party in

As Jerry read over the address prepared by the Nashville middle-of-the-roaders, he delivered himself of a broad, hoarse laugh. which was full of derision. He placed his finger on this paragraph of the address:

"We do not believe that the question of free silver is in itself a broad enough platfrom for a national party. The remonetization of silver would, we believe, increase the price of labor and its productions by increasing the supply of money, and it is therefore a matter of the utmost consequence to all the people of the Un ted States; but it must not be forgotten that the opening of the mints to silver would not decrease one lota the robberies of the corporations, the usurers, the rings and the trusts. It will avail nothing to add to the value of labor and its productions if the exactions of plunderers are permitted to infinger on this paragraph of the address:

"The democracy may be fit to assist in handling a single temporary side issue like free silver, but"—

And so forth, the rest being a laudation of the people's party.

"What do you think of that?" he asked, still laughing. still laughing.

"What do you think of it?" I asked him,

Westerners All Against It.

"Well, it isn't the first time a mere hand-ful of people have undertaken to sidetrack a great issue. Many other efforts of that kind have been made, but if I read history correctly, there have been a number of very glittering failures on that line. They tried to sidetrack the slavery issue. Did they succeed? Certainly not. The politicians of all parties tried to temporize with that issue, but all their efforts were in vain. The politicians of other parties have made desperate efforts to sidetrack this money question, but all the obstacles they have put in the way were swept aside by the people. Talk about the people's party making the silver question secondary—why, that is preposterous. I needn't tell you that there is among the populists of the west absolutely no sympathy for any such fool-

"Why, to do that," continued the Kansan, "Is to throw away all reasons for the ex stence of the party. The silver question is the money question. The money question the fight to correct the great evils which have been brought to the people by the control of the old parties by the money power, is the cause which gave the populist party life. To abandon that would be to abandon the cardinal principles of the

Glad To Lose Certain Element.

"Doesn't it look as if these people were trying to do that? Isn't that the meaning of their declaration?" I asked. 'Of course, they represent nobody. That conference no more stands for the populist party than this talk we are having does. There was nothing official in that gather-ing. It is difficult to believe that the men who manipulated the thing, the men whose agitation it was which brought it about, can fool anybody. If anybody believes that the money question should be abandoned or made secondary, he does not belong in "The truth is," said Jerry, somewhat coldly, " the party has been afflicted with certain elements that it will be better without. It has been going through what every new party has to go through. There were attracted to it certain people and certain elements who are simply agitators, and for whom a new party always furnishes a temporary refuge. As the party settles down to a healthy growth, as it assumes strength and these people see they cannot control it, they slough off. The sloughing off process has begun, and its results will be bene ficial to the populist party."

The Great, Overshadowing Issue. "And the free coinage of silver-

"That will be the great overshadowing question in the next national campaign, as it was in the last. It means the first step and the most necessary step toward bringing relief to the people. In fighting the money trust, which has its grip on the country, we are fighting the most gigantic of all trusts, the one which is the parent of all the others. True populists will be in the front of that fight to the end, regardless of the aspirations of individuals, ever watchful of the interests of the peo-

When Jerry and other western populis who were in the Nashville gathering they do not go into details, but they declathese men represented nobody. A good many of them were middle-of-the-roaders for Mr. Hanna's purposes in the last cam-paign; others belong to the socialist ele-ment, which the substantial leaders want to get rid of. When they talk of the "sloughing off" that is going on, they refer to the defections of the socialistic element and the southern leaders who are keeping up the middle-of-the-road agitation their own selfish purposes.

"Tom Watson and his lieutenants or out against fusion," they say. "An analy sis of their arguments shows they mean they are against fusion unless Watson's name is on the ticket." A Split and They're Glad of It.

As to that new committee and the reor-ganization which Watson's organ says has been accomplished, they say just as Sena-tor Butler has said, as long as the new committee confines itself solely to the "organization" purposes for which it is ostensibly chosen, there can be no kick; but just so soon as it endeavors to usurp the functions of the national committee, that soon will the usurpers get it in the neck.
Of course, the new committee is going to try this. The middle-of-the-road organs will declare this to be their purpose. That means a split. The tail will try to wag the dog, and the dog will insist that he has some rights. some rights.

The only possible result of that will be two parties, each calling itself populist.

The western populists will keep up their fight for their convictions upon practical lines. The substantial men of the south who were driven from the democratic fold by the mistaken belief that Clevelandism He Gives the Nashville Bolters the meant democracy will return to the demo-cratic fold and join with the real party of the people in the battle for the people's Reynolds did not want to go back. He was very nervous when told that ne would be carried back, and for him to prepare himself for the trip. In fact, his nervousness was so great that he had to be given a stimulant. He was very pile and thin, and had to be helped to the hack that was to carry the men to the train. Sheiriff Brazelten, accompanied by two other men, took charge of the prisoners.

As it will be remembered, the killing was done in some woods, and the deed was not discovered until several days afterwards, when Hunt's body was found.

Aleynolds and Brooks are said to have decoyed Hunt into the woods, shot nim and robbed of a large sum of money. After the deed was done they returned to liarmony Grove, took possession of Hunt's store, claiming they had bought the goods and Hunt had gone to Arkansas. They proceeded to sell the stock of goods at any price they could obtain, which created considerable suspicion. Reynolds did not want to go back. He iderable suspicion.
When Hunt's body was found they ran away, but were captured and placed in the Fulton county jail, where they have been until today. Reynolds soon broke down and confessed the crime, teiling the officer, the whole story from the first hatching of the plot till the awful deed was done.

Strikers Think Small Operators Will Refuse To Sign and That the Whole Thing Is a Scheme.

FOR TRUE UNIFORMITY IN ALL MINES

Pittsburg, Pa., July 15.-This has been day devoted to hard work on the part of he joint arbitration commission in their efforts to secure true uniformity in this district as suggested by W. P. DeArmitt and all express themselves as well satisfied with the progress made.

Two of the largest operators in the district, W. P. DeArmitt and Francis L. Rob bins, have consented to head the list and the commissioners feel satisfied that the operators will soon fall in line. It is claimed by the miners' officials owever, that the understanding was that the agreement meant 95 per cent of the output of the district, whereas it is now said to mean 95 per cent of the operators. They say that it will be absolutely impossible to get 95 per cent of the operators, as there are a great many operators mining on a small scale. President Dolan said that while he would do all in his power to assist the commissioners in securing the signatures of the operators to the agreement, he thought the proposition was a scheme of President DeArmitt's to keep his men at work and prolong the strike. General Little, of the Ohio arbitration board, said that every obstacle had been removed in the way of a settlement along the lines proposed and that he had not heard of any operators who would no

They determined to give their miners an advance of 14 cents a ton above the present rates and to make a corresponding increase in the price of coal at the mines. They have returned to ask all other operators in the state to do the same. It is the opinion of coal men here that their action will be approved and followed by the other operators in the state. The price of coal at the mines is raised to $1.25 per ton.

"Cuthbert did herself proud in the way she entertained the editors and the editors you may put down, will never forget that queenly little city. In the first place, Moye, the editor mayor, did everything possible to make the affair the best in the association's history, and he threw open the doors of all the homes of Cuthbert to visitors.

"The meeting of the association was held in the courthouse. Walter Coleman was re-elected president and Moye and Trox Bankston vice presidents. Herrington and Shakkleford were made the secretaries." The editors enjoyed a fine banquet at the Hotel Randolph Tuesday night, at which some notable speeches were made. Hon. San Francisco, July 15 .- The Associated Press has received a letter from H. A. Stanley, president of the Binghamton, N. Y., Evening Herald Company, telling of wonderful gold discoveries of Alaska. Mr. Stanley wrote from St. Michaels island where he stopped on his way to the Yukor mining region, under date of June 30th. He

"The steamer Excelsior, of San Francisco, was the first vessel to push her way through the ice to this station. The Portland, from Seattle, arrived forty-eigh hours later. From these vessels we learned for the first time of McKinley's election the result of the Corbett-Fitzsimmon prize fight and other news of the fall and winter. The ice went out of the Yukon about June 15th, and the river steamer Portus Wear, which wintered at Dawson 2,225 miles up, reacehd St. Michaels June 27th. The Wear brought authentic news of some of the most wonderful gold strikes in all the world's history, and brought also some forty-five miners, every man bringing in from $5,000 to $100,000 of dust and nuggets, with an aggregate of more than $1,000,000.

"The steamer Alice arrived at St. Michaels on June 29th, bringing twenty-five miners and half a million in gold for them and much on its own account.

"The richest gold strike the world has ever known was made in the Klondyke re-gan last August and September, but the news did not get even to Circle City until December 15th, when there was a great stamede over the 300 miles intervening between George Cormack made the first great strike on Bonar za creek, and on August 19th seven laims were filed in that region. Those who made the 200 miles first struck it richest. Of al the 200 claims staked out on the Bonanza a blank. Very rich finds were made June

Oakley today. Bannockburn, the public choice in the stake, was beaten by nearly everything in the race, while the prize went to Plaudit, a long shot backed down from 20 to 1 to 8 to 1. The defeat of Bannockburn was not the only surprise during the day. Meddler, who looked to be a cinch at odds of 1 to 2, was easily beaten by Old Centre, the second choice. Plaudit, with 108 pounds on his back, was first away in the Emerald stakes and was never headed, winning in easy fashion by three lengths. Bannockburn was never able to get to the front, although hard ridden all the way. In the stretch he stopped, allowing all but John Bright to pass him. Dr. Hunnicutt is not satisfied with the present methods of teaching agriculture in the state college, but he has not yet taken the position, and is not likely to take the position that a removal of the agricultural funds from the university and the estab-lishment of a separate agricultural college would be beneficial.

Indeed, it is his opinion that the agricultural college would thrive better here than elsewhere if certain changes in its management are made.

He is not criticising or antagonizing the location of the college, but he has cer criticisms to pass on its management. These he believes can and will be relieved and then he is convinced that the state collarger degree than anywhere in Georgia. Professor Hunnicutt's ideas as to the State College of Agriculture at Athens are to require each student in the agricultural college to take agriculture; to have a fine farm well equipped for an the purposes of the agricultural department and to erect a dormitory and fless hall at which a student can live for $7 per month.

The first step in this direction has been taken and a line farm will be purchased during the summer and equipped so as to This result leaves three Americans and one Englishman in the semi-finals. He adds, furthermore, that all the insinuations in the press to the effect that the University of Georgia dreads an investigation put the university in a false light and should be stopped. The university, in his opinion, has no reason to dread an investigation, and moreover does not dread it.

Sheriff Nelms was on the train and he said that the crowd presented a very wild at pearance with their guns and other arms displayed so conspicuously. The men seemed much disappointed at missing their man and many were heard to express regret that the prisoner was not on the train. Sheriff Nelms said yesterday that at every station this side of Barnesville, there were large crowds waiting for the trains. As soon as it was dearned that Williams was not on the train, the crowds would quietly disperse.

It seemed for awhile yesterday that the negro was not safe even in Macon jail. Governor Atkinson heard of the men going from Barnesville to Macon and he at once determined on steps to put a stop to any intention they might have of doing violence to the prisoner.

The governor telephoned to Macon to have Colonel Wiley, of the Second refiment, to call out the troops to protect Williams if any occision should arrive. Chief of Police Bolfeuillet was also telephoned by the governor to give the sheriff all police aid that might be needed.

The Improvement of Whitehall. We publish elsewhere a telegram received yesterday from Mayor Collier in reply to a telegram sent to him at Asheville by The Constitution Wednesday afternoon. As will be seen, the telegram somewhat modifies the apparent opposition of the mayor to the proposition to improve Whitehall street, though it does not present him in the friendly attitude that the people of that part of the city had the right to expect from him. The Constitution would not do injustice to Mayor Collier, and we hope that, on his return to the city, personal investigation will satisfy him of the merit of the effort to improve Whitehall street.

If there is a street in the city of Atlanta which needs the attention of the city, it is Whitehall. Forming, as it does, the main artery into which lead several prominent streets from the center of the city, and into which passes at its western terminus the traffic of more county roads than into any street in the city, it is, between the junction of Forsyth street and the railroad crossing at West End, one of the most used thoroughfares of the city. The Diaz Remedy.

In the suppresion of "moonshining" in the United States, a valuable lesson might be learned from President Diaz, of the Mexican republic.

When the wave of revolution lifted General Diaz into the presidential chair he found the country, as it had been ever since Spanish evacuation, in the hands of bandits-gentlemen of the road -who were all politeness to the pedestrians whom they were robbing. punctilious were these freebooters that they had been known to withdraw from scenes of plunder when they learned of the presence of ladies. lifting their beegum shaped sombreros and begging pardon of the senoras with all the grace of an elegante. What should be done with people? While it was true that they had helped General Diaz into preferment, they were just as ready to do the same service for the next dashing general who came along.

A happy idea solved the problem The country needed men corresponding to our deputy marshals and collectors, well as bailiffs and sheriffs for local The bandits were undoubtedly courageous, and might be converted into reasonably good citizens if they could be induced to give their allegiance to the government. Accordingly, the corps of officiales rurales was organized, and every noted brigand in the country was given a place and a gaudy uniform. men, in turn, were too well known to lesser fry of the bandits to be resisted, and the result today is that bri- sesses large executive ability. For years we have had with us the illicit liquor manufacturer. The government has spent millions in the effort to suppress him, and the bloodshed, treason and perjury attendant form a dark chapter in history. It is safe to say, however, that of the thousands who are engaged in illicit distilling, the leaders or king-bees do not number over one or two hundred. If these men could be secured to enforce the law as against the rest, there would soon be an end of the business. It is a pity that one cannot adopt the Mexican plan of appointing these men as deputy marshals and collectors, and thus strike a most effective blow against a great evil.

Dissolution of Populism. That was a most remarkable statement printed in yesterday's Constitution, from the pen of Hon. Thomas E. Watson, in which he said;

In the breaking up of the people's party which Mr. Butler has done so much to bring about, many other old-time repub-licans will be found doing just what Dunning did. If we cannot arrest the falling to pieces of our party, those who were once democrats will be democrats again, and those who were republicans will be repubicans again. Fusion is dissolving populism back into its original elements.

In speaking of "the breaking up of the people's party" Mr. Watson alludes to it as an accomplished fact, and one which, if not entirely plain to him, is so to the disinterested observer, who can judge of passing events without preju-

The desire for fusion which grew so strong as to force itself upon the populist convention in St. Louis, was but the development of the fact that men are naturally ranged under two flagsthe masses and the classes. There will be at all times a party representing what may be called special and artificial interests which seek to profit at the expense of the masses. There will be another party devoted to popular rights, and opposed to the creation of special exemption and the protection of special interests at the sacrifice of the welfare of the masses. The former class is always consolidated and hold well together, while the latter often divides into many camps and is only brought together in the face of great emergency. Such a crisis confronted the populist convention in St. Louis, when the delegates found the classes arrayed under McKinley and the masses under Bryan, Mr. Watson is entirely right when he says that no party should exist for the mere purpose of voting men into office, but, unfortunately, it is only by voting for men that a change of bad laws can be effected. Therefore in indorsing Mr. Bryan the populist convention was only true to its own principles in adopting the people's cause as against that of the gold standard and a protective tariff.

The crisis thus outlined still exists and will continue to exist until the people have forced their will into law. The democratic party has ever been the party of home rule, of economical government and of all the policies which build up the home and the country.

But parties cannot resist the popular impulse to stand upon the one side or the other, and, as Mr. Watson says, those who were once democrats will be democrats again, and those who were republicans will be republicans again.' The cause of the people, in its entirety, has been taken up by the democratic form the link between the Forsyth street | party, and the cause of the favored classes, the selected few, has been adopt-West End. We observe that an atrabilious republi can newspaper expresses the fear that Governor Bob Taylor will be sent to the senate. "He has fiddled his way to the governorship," it says, "but we hope he will not fiddle his way into a body as dignified as the senate.'

We sincerely trust, therefore, that events will make Governor Bob Taylor a United States senator.

"No Ordinary Convention." Mr. Carlisle, of New York, was right when he declared in his speech before the assemblage of Kentucky bobtails, over which he presided, that "this is no ordinary political convention." It was, in fact, an extraordinary convention, called, first, for the purpose of vindicating the disreputable culmination of Mr. Carlisle's political record, and, second, for the purpose of giving respectability to an administration which has been overwhelmingly repudiated by the party it pretended to represent.

In both of these purposes the convention of bolting agitators will be a dismal failure. There is no possible way by which Mr. Carlisle can retrieve his lost political character as a democrat or achieve a vindication at the hands of the democracy. There is no possible way in which the Cleveland administration can receive indorsement from men who believe that political honesty is a

If Mr. Carlisle, now of New York, is to be vindicated, this indorsement of the raids on the treasury, and all the bond infamies in which he bore so conspicuous a part, becomes a necessity. Let the people of Kentucky judge of the true character of this pledge on the part of the bobtails to give the people's treasury over to this infamous scheme of robbery and plunder

The whole business has been properly and indignantly repudiated by the democratic voters of Kentucky, and they will bury it so deep this fall that the hand of resurrection will not be able to reach it. As in Kentucky, so in every other democratic state where the issue is put to a test.

The people have discovered to their sorrow that an indorsement of the gold syndicate brand of "sound" money means an indorsement of the single gold standard with all its fatal consequences, and that it involves the approval and a repetition of the bond infamies of the Cleveland-Carlisle administration. With these facts made plain, the democrats are anxious for the issue to be joined once more. They do not fear the re-

A Republican Tribute.

Among those elements that opposed the election of young Carter Harrison as the mayor of Chicago, none was more outspoken, vigorous and vindictive than The Times-Herald, It denounced the democratic candidate as the leader of the boodle gang, and predicted the sacrifice of the best interests of the city to those of the boodlers if the democrats were

The people, however, were of a different opinion. Carter Harrison was elected by a tremendous plurality. And now The Times-Herald itself vindicates the wisdom of the people's choice. The following head lines, taken from The Times-Herald, tell the whole story:

BOODLERS FEAR A VOTE. Powers Attemps to Make a Stand, but is Thwarted.

VICTORY COMES WITH A RUSH. Harrison's First Great Tussle With the Corrupt Influence Leaves Him Triumphant.

That is a sufficient vindication of the plans and purposes of the democratic mayor of Chicago. He stands where Mr. Bryan atood—where the party has al-ways stood—for the rights and interests of the people in federal, state and municipal affairs. Had the people not per-mitted themselves to be deceived by Hanna and other agents of the gold trust. Mr. Bryan's election to the presidency would have introduced a new atmosphere of honesty and patriotism in Washington. And before this time we should have seen the most conscientious republican editors paying a tribute to his administration as deserved as that which The Times-Herald pays to Carter Harrison, the able and patriotic democratic mayor of Chicago. Hanna's Prudence. Amazing prudence is one of the lead-

characteristics of Senator Mark Hanna, of Ohio. A year ago when Mr. Hanna was fry ing fat among the protected barons and those who expected protection in the future, for the purpose of building up corruption fund with which to aid in the election of Mr. McKinley, he was not altogether without motive. Whenever he secured a donation of a hundred or a thousand dollars, he put aside a tenth or a twentieth of it for a rainy day. The money came in so plentifully and so implicit was the confidence of its donors in the portly gentleman who was engaged in its collection that all trust was placed in his spending of it. spread the cash around pretty promiscu-ously through the middle west, and yet with his accustomed prudence, he did not spend any more than was necessary. for his election. It may be news to those who contri-buted the fund that Hanna thought his presence in Washington equally important with that of McKinley, but it is fact, nevertheless, and they will have the satisfaction of knowing that the pru dent gentleman has kept over a few dollars for a bad day.

Now for the Courts. Mayor Huguley and the people of Barnesville are to be congratulated upon the promptness and conservatism with which they acted in the Oscar Williams

The crime of which this man is guilty had special features of brutality connect ed with it, such as to boil the blood of men, and nerve them to pursue the wretch in order that they might inflict dire punishment upon him. He kept ahead of his pursuers, however, and it was not until he reached Barnesville that he was identified and arrested, and he now rests in a secure jail in Macon to await trial.

Under a provocation which rouses mer to swift punishment, they stood back and gave way to the law. Now, will the courts be equally as prompt? Will this case be delayed until witnesses are dead or be changed in venue, continued, appealed to the state and United States courts half a dozen times, or will prompt justice be done?

The people will trust the courts, if the courts will bear in mind the interest of the people. There should be no delay, the party and cleared them of all taint but a prompt trial and execution of the verdict.

ECHOES FROM THE PEOPLE.

From a Whitehall Street Resident. Editor Constitution-I am amazed at the attitude of Mayor Collier in rushing so hurriedly into opposition to the movement to improve Whitehall street. It would have at least been more dignified for him to have given the people of the street an opportunity to be heard from, and the city council time to have acted before seeking to discredit and disparage the movement.

I am not less amazed at the statement of Councilman Peters, of the sixth ward,

published this afternoon, that he "don't see the necessity of making the street any wider anyhow." Mr. Peters thinks it is wide enough and that it is impossible "to get the consent of the people to widen the street." "The city," says Mr. Peters, "has got all it can carry now," and he thinks it well to let the matter drop. Now Mr. Peters should know that the city would be much more able to make improvements on the other side of town from which he lives, if it had been less lavish in its expenditures in Mr. Peters's ward and around Mr. Peters's property. And yet the people of the first and second wards have borne this expense without a murmur. All of the expenses incidental to fixing up the Exposition park and the streets around it and leading to it were borne by the people of the whole city; and when Peachtree was paved with asphalt and the other streets on that side of the city were improved, as they should have been, the people of the west side did not enter protest and notify those of the sixth ward that they did not know what they wanted.

Mr. Peters thinks that the property owners of Whitehall street do not know what they want, and that they will not give their consent to widening the street. would it not be manifestly proper for Mr. Peters to wait until the people of Whitehall street are heard from and have had opportunity to formally present their request to the council? Like Mayor Collier. Mr. Peters is too previous. "It is impossible to make a Peachtree out of the residence section of Whitehall street," says Mayor Collier. I suppose this declaration is made on the principle that "It is impossible to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear." And yet the people of Whitehall street are not altogether bad. There are some very good citizens among them. They have always done their duty to the city, and, as stated in yesterday's Constitution, they have uncomplainingly borne their part of all expenditures for public improvement. Is it not right and just, therefore, that they glould be given at least a fair hearing, and that the property owners of the sreet should be permitted to say whether or not they will contribute to the city, free of cost, enough of their frontage to widen the street as proposed. If they will not give their property, all right-no harm is done. But, even if these good people have not reached the state of social perfection that characterizes Peachtree street as a residence avenue, they should at least be entitled to the consideration that all good citizens have the right to expect from the city government. They are moving to improve their street,

Mr. Mayor, and to help the city. They are moving unselfishly, but earnestly; and you should be assisting them by lending them your wise counsel, rather than by endeavoring to discredit their work and discourage their efforts.

When, in a communication to The Constitution several days ago. I suggested that all of the western part of the city was suffering from the blighted condition of Whitehall street and urged improvement, I did not know that the sentiment of the street was so overwhelmingly in favor of the proposition. Now, that I find it that way, I am more earnest than ever in my desire to see something done to save the street and more willing than ever to contribute my part of the frontage of my Whitehall street property to the end that the street shall be widened and otherwise at the Park.

The Recorder Says the Ball Was the Toughest Affair He Ever Investigated-Makes Warm Talk. Manager Sasseen Is Arrested.

It was after the ball. Sixteen 'of them stood in a half-moon circle about the desk of the recorder yesterday afternoon. They had been to the ball at Piedmon; exposition grounds. There was total want of picturesque and gaudy costumes, and the faces that had worn s emile hidden behind the mask when the revelry was at its height were now exposed to public view with a sack-cloth-and-ashes Nine men and seven women formed the group about the recorder. The little wonan who had worn a pair of dazzling flesh-colored tights which were said to have precipitated the raid by the police Thursday night, was dressed in a plain every day shirt waist and a modest black skirt. The portly woman who had represented "Little Bopeep" had neither crook nor staff. The man who had disguised himself with a false nose and a huge mustache stood up like a lamb led to the slaughter. There was a tall young man who had danced the light fantastic in garments as gaudy as Jacob's coat of many colors; he had on a trim business suit. There was absolutely nothing to exen hint that these prisoners had been to one of the most noted balls ever given in Atlanta. Yes, there was one memento lefta huge false nose which lay limp and ugly upon the clerk's desk. Just as the recorder called the cases against those who had been hauled to the police barracks night before last from the ballroom floor at the exposition park a small boy passed up the alley below whist-ling: "After the Ball Was Over." It may have been an accident, but if he had no quickly disappeared he might have been fined for contempt of court.

Were Tried in a Band. The cases were all tried in a bunch.

The first witness was Captain Manly who stated that he had been notified there was going to be a mask hall at the park and there was a probability of the affair turning out to be a rowdy dance. So officers were sent there to keep an eye on

Sergeant Abbott told how he watched the He saw them come in gay costumes and gaudy apparel and viewed with a police-man's watchful eye the preliminaries for the ball. He had reason to believe some of the revelers were women of questionable repute and he invited them into a dressing room and requested them to show their faces. He discovered that his suspicions

When the Row Began. "It was my intention to serve these women with copies and make them go home,' said the sergeant, "but just then a lot of the men rushed toward the dressing room and then the disorder began. A young man and the woman. Boyd, had a fuss and some very obscene language was used. I and other officers attempted to collect the dancers in the rooms for the purpose of making arrests. A few moments later three young men got into a fight and Anderson struck Harper over the head with a heavy stick. I left the officers I had with me to look out for the men and women we were trying to hold and I went to a telephone and called for the reserve force at the barracks. When the wagon and extra men arrived we arrested the sixteen

They Gave Their Version. Then all the prisoners made a statement. The men gave different versions of the affeir, each endeavoring to show that he was not to blame for the fight. They all acknowledged being at the ball, but one and was only a spectator.

The women stated that they had been invited to the ball by Charley Sasseen, who told them they would be protected, and there would be no harm in their going to the dance in costume and mask.

The recorder looked serious as he cleared.

The recorder looked serious as he cleared. The recorder looked serious as he cleared his throat to deliver the judgment of the court. His courtenance did not augur well for the prisoners. He said:

park out yonder is made for decent people and I am going to make some fines which will cause you to remember it. The ball was nothing but a drunken, rowdy frolic. Now, to the women I wish to say that they knew they are tolerated by the police and every one of you are violating the law by living in bawdy houses. But, as I said, you are tolerated and are given police protec-tion. When you leave your houses and go out to public balls you cease to deserve the protection otherwise accorded you. You had no right to go to that ball in costume and mask. The simple act itself is a species of disorderly conduct, and a sort of mmorality which the good people will not tolerate. You women of disreputable character are placed upon certain streets, or allowed to remain upon certain streets undisturbed. When you go out in public you will be taken in charge by the police. As ong as you remain where you are located lecent people will keep off that thoroughfare, and this in a measure protects the people. And I wish to say right now, if you should be made to vacate the places you now occupy and are allowed to scatter about the city, I don't see how the com-munity can be protected."

Heavy Fines Entered.

The recorder fined each of the women $25 costs, and the fines imposed upon the men were as follows: Three were fined $10 and costs each. Four others were fined $25 and costs each.

The cases against two were dis there being no evidence against them. nediately after the cases were dis posed of Acting Captain Manly called Sergeant Abbott into his office and instruct ed him to make a case against Charley in the trial. Sasseen subsequently called at the barracks and had his case booked. All the fines were paid and the total amount which came to the city from the ball was $403.75. As the managers of the dance are all out of pocket, the city was the only winner in the terpsichorean ven-

The small boy would do well to refrain from whistling or humming "After the Ball Was Over" for several days to come, or he might meet one of the merry dancers, and if he did there would surely be trouble.

Rumors have been going the rounds recently to the effect that the Southern Railway Company had secured control of the Scaboard. Officials of both systems denied the stories. The Scaboard's representatives stated that they did not want the Seaboard if they could get it, and the Seaboard's officials declare that it could not be bought if it was wanted. not be bought if it was wanted.

It is well known that a majority of the Seaboard and Roanoke stock is pooled and the President R. C. Hoffman, of the Seaboard, holds the proxies for the stock in the pool. There could be no sale without making it through him and he states emphatically that there is absolutely nothing in it.

CLAYTON TALKS ABOUT WHITEHALL

City Engineer Says Street Can Be Widened Without Great Cost.

NO SERIOUS OBSTACLE IN WAY Chairman Adair Favors the Improving

of the Street and Tells Why.

SAYS IT WILL DOUBLE VALUE OF PROPERTY

Mayor Collier Wires That He Is Not Opposed to Improvement-Citizens May Meet Soon.

The agitation of the subject of widening and improving Whitehall street has brought about a strong feeling in favor of immediate action in the matter and it is very probable that a meeting of citizens of the street will be called for next week to take action on the question.

Many citizens have declared the widening proposition the one thing necessary n beautifying and improving the street. and each day adds names to the list of citizens and property owners who agree to donate a few feet on each side of the street to widen the thoroughfare.

The list now includes many of the most prominent citizens of the street and they epresent, a great portion of the entire frontage. Other citizens who have not been seen are known to favor the plan and many who are on record are out of the city and cannot be quoted. From every quarter comes indorsements of the movement to widen and improve the street and some definite action will be taken in the near future.

Among the best posted men in the city on matters of this kind is Mr. Forres Adair, chairman of the county board of commissioners of roads and revenues. He is heartily in favor of improving and widening Whitehall street and says the work can be done at little expense. He thinks the widening of the street will greatly benefit, not only Whitehall street, but all the western section of the city and Ful-ton county, and will build up an immense territory, between Atlanta and College Park, because if the street is improved it will be a convenient way for residents of the outlying districts to reach the city.

Mr. Forrest Adair Favors Plan. Mr. Adair has given the subject much onsideration and he believes there is lit-le objection, if any, to the plan among the property owners. He thinks everybody should get together on the project and take action at once. He says, in speaking of the subject:

"The county of Fulton is completing, at a very large expense, a road from the terminus of Whitehall street to the county line at College Park, which, when finished will be second to none in the United States and without doubt the finest driveway in the south. It will be paved with chert and for a distance of seven miles will be almost level, the grade being no greater than is absolutely necessary to give proper drain-

"The residents along this road and in the towns of East Point and College Park are already realizing the fact that a good road is a potent factor in restoring activi-"This road is practically inaccessible for citizens of Atlanta on account of the mis ertizens of Atlanta on account of the miserable paying on Whitehall street.

"The best residence lots on Whitehall street, three-quarters of a mile from the Kimball, house, can be bought for less than $60 per front foot. This is not true of any other main street. Property on Piedmont avenue, outside the city limits, will sell for as much. Why? Because it can be reached by a well-paved driveway.

Captain R. M. Clayton, city engineer, says there is no reason why Whitehall street cannot be widened from Forsyth street to Peters street. West End, at a reasonable cost. He says there is no great obstacle to prevent the widening of the street, and that if the citizens all agree to give the necessary property on each side, the work can be done at a comparatively small cost. Captain Clayton is thoroughly familiar with the conditions existing on Whitehall street, and he sees no reason why the street cannot be widened and improved.

He is of the opinion that the street can be widened without any great outlay of Governor Ellerbe Instructs State Con-Deputy Wilson Says It Can Be Done. This opinion is concurred in by Deputy Tom Wilson, of the engineer's department, who has gone over the maps of the street and drawings for The Constitution, examining the conditions and studying the plan necessary to widen the street. He says if the property owners will donate the land the street can be widened very cheaply. ining the conditions and studying the plan Whitehall street, from the junction Forsyth to the railroad crossing in West End, is about fifty feet wide. It will aver-age that width the entire distance. Of this fifty feet, eighteen is exhausted in sidewalks, nine on each side. This leaves thirty-two feet between curb and curb. The streetcar tracks (double), occupy about twelve feet, leaving only about twenty feet, ten feet on each side of the tracks, for the use of vehicles.

The distance is about 400 feet, including street crossings. Mayor Collier Not Opposed to It. In a telegram to The Constitution last night, dated Morristown, Tenn., Mayor Collier says he is not opposed to improving Whitehall street if the consent of the parties interested can be obtained. The may "I am not opposed to the improvement of Whitehall street if consent of parties at "The city has no authority to repair streets at joint expense of owners, railway and city, unless existing pavement is worn out and useless. As this condition does not exist, unanimous consent would be neces-sary, and it is certain the Consolidated would not consent.

"Capitol avenue was not repaired at the expense of property holders and railroads. The existing pavement on Washington street was declared to be, and is, worn out, and is useless and falls within the provision of the ordinance."

What Mr. John Berkele Says. Mr. John Berkele, a resident of the street who owns quite a frontage, says he is in favor of widening and improving the street

"I wish the citizens would get together and agree to improve Whitehall street," said Mr. Berkele yesterday. "I believe it would be beneficial to widen the street and am heartily in favor of the plan out-lined in The Constitution. I will readily agree to give five feet of my front to widen the street. Let the citizens agree on this project and do semething for the street." Mr. Steiner Favors It.

Mr. A. Steiner is enthusiastic in speak ing of the proposed improvements "I am heartily in favor of wid-ning and otherwise improving Wnitehall street. Something should be done to better the condition of the street and that at once. I believe in improvements and know the property along the street and adjacent streets will be greatly benefited by the widening of the street. Mr. Sol Benjamin, who owns several lots on Whitehall, believes in making improvements on the street. He says: "I think well of the plan to widen and improve the street. I will be glad to give as much as five feet for the purpose of widening the street and want to see the citizens do something at once. The street has many natural advantages and they should be improved upon now."

By the acceptance of the proposition the ommissioners have saved the county $5,000 in the cost of making the plans for the ourthouse and they have been assure that the plans which are to be furnished will be as good as could be made by eastern experts.

These letters were written by the present county officials in reply to inquiry sent out by the board. When the new courthouse question loomed up Chairman Adair dictated a number of letters, which were mailed to the county officials, in which they were asked to give an idea as to the amount of space their offices needed in the new courthouse. These letters have thrown much light on the sit-uation and will be a tangible basis upon which the architects can proceed with their

AT WOMAN'S MEETING

W. C. T. U. Held Busy and Instructive Meeting at Woman's Clubrooms Yesterday Afternoon.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its first meeting in the rooms of the Woman's Club in the Grand yes-They are proud of their new quarters and are loud in their praise of the generosity of the Woman's Club. The mbly room, where all meetings are held, has, owing to their popularity, been recently enlarged and greatly improved over the old one

The ladies of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union say this is the best place they have had to hold their meetings since their organization.

Their change of venue has caused to spring up amongst them more enthusiasm than has heretofore been evinced, and the meeting yesterday was with a large number of ideas of further advancement and new reforms.

With the same warmth of feeling they indemned the Trinity church for the lack of charity that was shown when refused to allow the union to meet there. They indorse the action of Mr. Witham and his family in withdrawing from the church for not giving the tem-

A number of the union will also withdraw from the church for the same rea-They think they have been unjustly assailed and insulted by those members of the church who refused them the privflege they asked. A discussion of the police matron was taken up, and they are much encouraged over the reports of the good work Miss Holloway is doing. It was the Woman's Christian Temperance Union that was largery instrumental in having a police matron appointed, and they have dec.ded to use their efforts to secure as many matrons as the police station needs. They say that when Atlanta reaches the size of Chicago and has twenty-six police sta-t ons they will have twenty-six matrons or more. Another subject that was earnestly discussed was the organization of a branch of the present Woman's Christian Temperance Union, to be known as the Young Woman's Christian. Temperance Union. They will endeavor to form this on a large scale and have all the young women in the city as members. They claim this to be a very popular movement and expect it to go rapidly up in numbers and soon be more powerful than the present union. The Bush bill, which was introduced into the legislature some time ago and provided for the establishment of dispensaries over the state instead of the barrooms that now exist, was discuss-ed, and it was decided that they would use all their influence between now and the next session of the general assembly and during the session of that body to have this bill passed. They say that to estab-lish dispensaries would practically make the state a prohibition one, and as soon as this was accomplished, they would go to work to have the dispensary system abolished, thereby making the state wnolly prohibition. They will ask the next legislature to pass a law which shall provide for scientific temperance inprovide for scientific temperance in-struction to be made a part of the curriculum of the public schools of the state. Three states of the union now have this method, and they say it has worked marvelous results in directing youthful minds to the evils of drinking intoxicating li-quors. The question of wearing birds as ornaments for womens' hats came in for destruction was condemned. An argument was had to the effect that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union should embrace suffrage, because they be-Leve that prohibition cannot be brought about until the women can vote it down. This proved a popular subject among them and the idea will probably be a part of a share of the time of the meeting, and at the close of the discussion such wanton their creed soon.

The meeting strongly indorsed the product of the woman's exchange to establish a boarding house for young women.

It is proposed by the woman's exchange to ether build or establish in some content ent locality a home for young women tho are dependent upon their own efforts for their livelihood and where they can live as cheaply as possible in comfort.

Iney have placed a contribution box in account that may be given for this purpose.

The Episcopal ceremony was used. Rev. The Episcopal ceremony was used, Rev. N. J. Holmes officiating. The bride is a daughter of the late Major J. K. Vance, of Lamens, and is a sister of Mrs. J. Walter Gray. The groom is a prosperous farmer of this court. of western North Carolina.

FOUR BURGLARIES YESTERDAY THIEVES CONTINUE TO GET IN THEIR WORK.

Rogues Stealing in Different Portions of the City-All Sorts of Goods Are Being Stolen.

Four burglaries were reported to the police yesterday morning. One occurred at the Fulton cotton mills, where a watch was stolen from Mr. Joe Kesler, who is employed at the mills.

Another happened in West End. The residence of Dr. Walfer A. Crowe, at 156 Lee street, was entered and a quantity of goods were stolen.

The carriage house of Mr. W. B. Roberts, whose home is at 33 St. Charles street, was entered and one set of harness, with some extra bridles and other pieces of harness, was stolen. The fourth case was reported from the very heart of the city. The office of the Standard Oil Company was broken open and some money was obtained. The exact amount, of money stolen could not be found out, but it is small. If these burglaries continue at the rate that they are now going on it will not take the burglars long to loot the whole city. Special efforts will be made to catch the men who are doing the work. The officers believe that a regular organ ized band of thieves are working the city.

AFRAID TO WHIP HIS CHILD.

Secures the Sanction of the Court and

Is Happy. Willie Lee Morris, a young negro girl, was brought in the recorder's court yesterday charged with idling by her father. The old man said that she would leave home and he could not control ber home and he could not control her. Judge Calhoun asked why he did not whip her. The old man said: "Judge, I am afraid to whip her. I am afraid that I would be brought up here, and I do not want to be fined." The recorder replied: "You go ahead and whip her and if you are brought up here I will let you go free. Whip her once when she leaves; whip her the second and even the third and fourth times that she goes off, and if that will not stop her, keep whipping her till she does stay at home.

whipping her till she does stay at home. I think it will take about twenty-seven whippings to get her under control, but I want you to get her all right and will not bother you if you are arrested."

The oid man's face spread all over with a smile as he replied: "Til manage her, judge; I'll manage her now. Thank you, judge. I'll manage her, and whip her, too. All I want is the right to whip her, and I'll manage her."

He kept mumbling this until he had left the courtroom.

Liquor in a Restaurant.

Sam Dorsey, a negro man who runs a restaurant on Decatur street, was tried yesterday morning for retailing whisky on the Fourth of July. He was proven guilty and given $25 or thirty days in the stockade. At the same time of the selling of the whisky there was a big fight in the restaurant, and several other negroes were caught and fined.

CHASED RUNAWAY ENGINE ON BICYCLE

Marietta the Scene of a Lively Sensation Wednesday.

A SWITCH ENGINE RAN AWAY FAMILY APPEARS IN COURT

Dashed Through Town and Sped on Toward Approaching Freight.

BOY FOLLOWS THE RUNAWAY ON A BICYCLE

Finally Overtakes Engine, Mounts the Cab and Reverses the Lever-An Exciting Adventure.

Here is a modern knight errant on

The bravery of a young negro boy in Marietta Wednesday morning prevented two trains splicing into each other and probably several lives being dashed into It was also a new use of the bicycle and as brave a deed as has been

About half a mile north of the Marietta depot an Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern switch engine was lazily transferring some freight cars from one track to another. The iron horse ventured out on the track of the Western and Atlantic once as a freight engine flew around the corner, and dashed into the switch engine at a lively rate, scattering splinters, steel and iron in every direction to the music of the escaping steam and the frantic yells of the fireman and engineer of the switch en-gine, who had jumped from their cab and were making for the woods.

The two engines plowed at each other for a while, when the throttle of the switch engine was opened automatically and the hissing monster started toward Marietta at a terrific rate, drawing three freight ears after her. The pilot was gone, as well as some other paraphernalia of her make-up, and there was no guiding hand at the throttle. The engine sped on in its wild race to seemingly certain destruction far down the line.

As the runaway passed the depot in As the runaway passed the depot in Marietta the engine had acquired a speed of about fifteen miles an hour. The loungers about the depot made frantic efforts to jump the engine, but could not. The speed was too great. The runaway disappeared around the curve south of the depot and made straight down the track. The northbound freight from Atlanta was about due. The runaway would catch her about haif a mile out, and there was no teiling the result. Consternation reigned supreme through the little city, and the fast dying rattle of the wild engine sounded like a death knell in the ears of the excited citizens.

A Wild Ride for Life.

A Wild Ride for Life.

As the engine passed Anderson's stable, a short distance from the depot. Charles Daniel, a young cotored boy in the employ of the electric light company of Marietta, was riding down the road on his bicycle. As the engine flew past him and he saw no one at the throttle or in the cab, it did not take him long to take in the situation. With remarkable swiftness he turned his silent steed from the road straight to the track and put all his power on to the pedals. The bicycle responded to his exertions and flew down the smooth path beside the track like a bird. The runaway was not far in front—only 200 feet, but was running over fifteen miles an hour.

The race grew more exciting. The boy had never ridden so fast before. He knew the freight was due; that if he did not stop that engine death would result. He had already run after the engine a half-mile, but was slowly gaining. The steep grade was near, though, and if the ru away reached the top before it could be caught there was no earthy chance to prevent a collision.

With this thought Daniel strained his With this thought Daniel strained his muscles and pushed still-harder. He flew like lightning. The distance between him and the engine diminished. He gained fast. In a minute he was beside the cow-catcher and the flying drivers. He rode up to the side of the cab and, placing his hands on the steps, with one mighty effort swung himself from the saddle of his bicycle on to the side of the engine. His wheel flopped into the gutter and Daniel sprang into the cab.

Reversed the Engine.

The runaway was perhaps still making fteen miles an hour. Daniel jumped to he throttle, closed it and pulled forward he brake lever. The engine groaned, the the brake lever. The engine groaned, the drivers ground the track in their mighty resistance and the train came to a standstill. Daniel opened the throttle again and sped back toward Marietta.

As he stopped in front of the depot, which was surrounded by a crowd mute with astonishment, a cheer went up that almost shook the earth and the brave negro boy was fairly carried from the engine the hero of the hour. The northbound freight whistled around the corner only a few seconds later and sped by the little station on her way northward blissfully ignorant of the narrow escape she had just had.

Father and Stepmother Are Now Recon ciled, So Lawyers Say.

pany Him to Virginia.

A POLICEMAN TELLS OF THE ARREST

Defendant Demanded a Trial and ar Honorable Discharge After the Reconciliation.

New York, July 15.-Morgan V. Gress wa equitted in the Jersey City police court oday of the charge of kidnaping his sis ter, May, ten years old.

His father, George V, Gress, and his step-mother, Mrs. Mary Gress, were reconciled, so the lawyers said, although the husband and his wife did not leave the courtroo together.
Mrs. Gress caused the arrest of Morgan

Gress at midnight last Saturday in a train in the Pennsylvania station on a charge of kidnaping May, who had been placed on the train in care of Morgan by their father. It transpired that George V. Gress wanted to take his family to Virginia from Garrison's, on the Hudson. Mrs. Gress wished to stay and visit the family of Dr. Van Buren Young. Having failed to persuade her to go to Virginia, the father started with his two sons and the daughter, who is the child of his second wife.

After putting Morgan and May on the train, George V. Gress and his elder son, Hart, went to a hotel in Jersey City, where they were informed of the arrest.

The case was fixed for a hearing on Monday, Wednesday morning and Wednesday afternoon, but Mrs. Gress failed to appear. She learned that counsel for her husband had secured a writ of habeas corpus, directing her to produce her daughter May in court, and was induced to appear today by a written guarantee that no writ would be served upon her. She went to Jersey City accompanied by counsel and met her nusband. They conferred an hour. The Gress went to the courtroom and was fol-lowed in a few minutes by his wife, her lawyers and his sons. May Gress did not appear. Mrs. Gress's counsel stated that the complainant wished to withdraw the charge, but young Gress wanted a hearing and an honorable discharge. Policeman T. J. Murphy described the arrest. Mrs. Gress told him her daughter was being abducted. May at first clung around her brother's neck and said they should not take him. She finally went willingly with her mother. Mrs. Gress left Morgan in a lockup, where his father found him ten minutes after she had gone. Mrs. Gress admitted to the court that Murphy's account was true. tice then allowed a motion for the defen lant's discharge.

It was said that Mrs. Gress would remain in the north a while with her husband's consent and that he was willing to make any honorable concession for the sake of

It may even surpass the grocers' outling. Mr. Burge, who has worked hard for the salesmen's excursion, is confident that the trip will be the greatest thing ever a tempted. He feels certain that there will be over 1,000 people and he expects to give all of them the greatest time of their lives. The trip will be made so that the party will reach St. Simon's in the early morning and be there for two entire days. The excursionists will be given an opportunity to see the naval drill, which will be of un-

The wholesale men and jobbers in the city have been very generous toward their men and have let them all off. The drummers hope that the dry goods men will let off their clerks, as all of them want to make this trip. A strong effort is being made to induce the dry goods people to allow the clerks to take the outling and a large number of them have agreed to do so. The excursion will be quiet and orderly and there will be, perhaps, more lady passengers on the train than gentlemen. Cards of character have to be secured before a ticket can be bought.

REV. E. R. CARTER IS PRESIDENT THE COURSE WAS LINED WITH PEOPLE FULTON SUPERIOR COURT WILL ADMINISTER

The Association Is but Two Years Old, Finish Was a Great Surprise and Won an Ovation for the Speedy Winner. Harvey Hill, a dark horse and a handicap man, was the victor in the gentlemen's road race yesterday afternoon. Bob Reed was second and winner of the time prize. Sam Williams and Hal Richards were the third and fourth men to get The race was exciting and fast. The three men who were counted as winner before the start were Reed, Richards and Williams with Grady a second. Hill proved to be the "dark horse" and won to the surprise of many. He received a large handicap, in fact, was the second man to start. He was a full minute in front of the riders all during the race and some thought he had won the time prize as well as first after he crossed the finish. Joe Raine was the limit man and was shoved off just thirty seconds before the winner, Harvey Hill, responded to the pistol shot. Hill made a good start and turned the curve from the view of the hundreds that were watching the race almost with the wheel of Raine. The other riders followed in short order. The scratch men were: Richards, Grady, Williams and Reed. The crowd gave them a good round of applause as they left the line. All four were strong riders and every one thought the winner was in the bunch.

The crowds waited patiently gazing excitedly and expectantly toward the curv Seven minutes had elapsed when those a the turn yelled that a rider was in view The word was passed up the line and the crowd began to gather in the streets trying to catch a first glimpse of the rider. It was all the officers could do to give the racer space enough to pass in.

Hill Leads the Bunch. When he first came around the curve those at the finish were guessing who it was. No one thought for an instant that it was Hill, and yet it was he, a full minute in front of the other riders. He rode the race alone. Raine, the limit man, dropped out on the first trip. He turned around the starter and was turning the curve he we the other riders came into curve be we the other riders came into

The four scratch men followed next. Reed showed the signs of a fall and was looking weak when he turned. These four men were off again, and there was a wait of several

During this time the crowd began to jolly each other. The men who were counted as winners were now doubtful, and it gave them something to talk about. Hill's stock went way up, but there were many in the crowd who thought that he would give out on the last frip and come in behind the Hill Lands the Winner.

This was not the case. Again those at the curve sent up word that the winner was in view. Then it was that things were exciting. The green sweater of Hill was recognized through the cloud of dust that he was enveloped in, and this information was passed up to the finish. When the rider came into view everyone knew that it was Hill, and he was given loud applause. The crowd turned from the winner to catch a glimpse of the second man. They looked: ten seconds passed, and yet no one came into view; fifteen, twenty seconds passed and no riders. Hill was now mingling with the crowds, who began to ask him where the other men were. He could not give the information, as he had lost them. "I met them near Brookwood as I was coming back," said the winner.

The advance guard of the crowd soon sent up the word that the riders were seen coming over the hill. This brought the crowds to their feet. A big cloud of dust was seen coming around the curve, and three men were trying to beat each other. Bob Reed was in front and pulled the other two men, Richards and Williams, up the hill. They failed to pass him, however, and he won by half a wheel. Bob Lewis fol-lowed the three scratch men in. Halti-wanger was fifth. Time of race was 16:32.

The Crowds at the Races.

The crowd that saw the race yesterday was the society and wheeling element. The terraces near the finish were crowded with ladies and gentlemen, the majority of them in their cycling costumes. Carriages, carts, victorias and vehicles of every kind were stretched as far as the eye could

The carriages were ned up for half a mile down the road. As soon as the race was finished the crowds began to line up for the trip back. There were fully 500 wheels coming up Peachtree street confined in two blocks. It was one of the prettiest sights that has been seen in the way of a bicycle pageant. Everybody is satisfied with the race and

Several falls were the cause of three or four of the most probable winners to leave the race. Grady received a bad fall on the first trip down which threw him out of the race. "The receivers in that state have been giving us considerable' trouble, but there is now an effort being made that I believe will result in an ancillary bill which will bring the assets to Georgia for distribution among the stockholders who are scattered throughout the south."

As a result of the ancillary bills, the assets in the various states, after receivers' and court costs have been deducted, will be delivered to the Georgia receivers and all the assets of the association in the south will be massed together under the jurisdiction of Judge Lumpkin's court. When this is done an order will be secured by which the receivers of Georgia will be authorized to pay out and distribute the assets to the stockholders, wherever they may be located.

An intervention will be filed this morning in the superior court by Attorneys Burnett and Lumpkin, making all the stockholders of the Southern Mutual parties to the original bill. This step has been decided upon as an economic measure and will doubtless result in the saving of a large portion of the assets which would otherwise be wasted.

Superintendent Slaton Gives an Interesting Account of the Work Done by the Association.

MANY NEW IDEAS WERE GLEANED

Major W. F. Slaton, superintendent of the city schools, and Professor W. M. Sla-ton have just returned from the thirtysixth annual meeting of the National Ed-ucational Association held in Milwaukee. This association has a membership of 17,500, and is probably the largest of its kind in the world. It gathers together each year this immense aggregation of teachers to discuss the best methods fo teaching young people. Major Slaton and his son, W. M. Slaton, were the only rep-resentatives of the state of Georgia. The appointees from Savannah, Augusta and other places in the state were absent. Major Slaton has been a member of the association for fifteen years, and he talks very interestingly of the good they are accomplishing. He says:

"The good that it does one to attend these meetings is inestimable. It broadens one's deas to travel, and the discussions that the page at these gatherings. sions that one hears at these gatherings sions that one hears at these gatherings are very valuable. The programmes are interesting and instructive. They are always carried out exactly as planned, and no variation from the prescribed regulations is allowed.

"Every hour in the day is taken up in some sort of profitable discussion on some educational topic. During the sessions, besides the addresses and discussions that take place, musical selections are rendered by some of the best artists.

"The convention met on Tuesday, July 6th. The teachers were welcomed to the city by the governor of Wisconsin, the mayor and other high officials. On the same day the president delivered an address on "The Best Education of the Masses," and a general discussion took place as to the study of history in the public schools.

"On Wednesday the same method was management of the affairs of the associations since their appointment, and they have succeeded in making nearly all of the state receiverships ancillary to the receivership in Georgia. In their efforts to make the receivership in this state the disbursing medium they have met with serious difficulty from the obstinacy of the receivers for South Carolina, the only state which gives trouble.

The Georgia receivers have been made receivers for Mississippi. The Texas receivership has been made ancillary to the Georgia receivership, and Tennessee has fallen into line. The other states have given no trouble with the exception of South Carolina; and here the rub has been. Several days ago the fight began, and although the Georgia receivers have been given stubborn opposition in that state, they hope the question will be amicably settled and that a bill in that state, they hope the question will be amicably settled and that a bill in that state, they hope the question will be amicably settled and that a bill in that state, they hope the question in the case. The judge of the Florida court who granted the receivership in that state has practically made the orders of Judge Lumpkin's court the orders of Judge Lumpkin's court the orders of Judge Lumpkin's court the orders of his court, and there has been a friendly co-operation between the county have an of co-education was heen a friendly co-operation between the county that the demoralizing effect would have the orders of Judge Lumpkin's court the orders of Judge Lumpkin's court the orders of his court, and there has been a friendly co-operation between the first and let them hustle as a process of the conclusion was heen a friendly co-operation between the county of the co-operat

They say if a bov will not be made to act properly by moral suasion he should be sent to a reformatory. That may be a good remedy, I do not know, but if we have no reformatories what are we to do? They say expel them, but that throws a boy out on the world with no guidance at all. So what does it leave us but corporal punishment? unishment?
"I think Atlanta ought to have a reform "I think Atlanta ought to have a retormatory, but if we build one we must build two. One for black and one for white. There are girls, too, who need to be sent to reformatories as well as boys. One bad girl will demoralize more boys than a dozen bad boys."

Major Slaton is alive with new ideas and thinks that the instruction gained from attendance upon the National Educational Association an opportunity that should not be missed.

They have placed a man. One of their number has cinched a job. The appointment of Perry DeLeon as consul to Ecuador is a great victory for them, so they say. The members of the McKinley Club walked around yesterday with a broad smile illuminating their faces. They were happy. They said they had scored a great victory. They said they had scored a great victory over the pie-grabbing followers of Buck. Some of them perpetrated sinster winks and gleefully hinted that the appointment of DeLeon was but the beginning of the of DeLeon was but the beginning of the great work.

The appointment of DeLeon was also a victory for Hanson, and it might be said that it was one of the first the Macon republican has accomplished. Hanson has worked hard for DeLeon, for DeLeon is a new addition to the party. Up to last election be had always voted the straight democratic ticket. He was more fortunate ocratic ticket. He was more fortunate than some of the republicans who have been fighting all their lives for the repub than some of the republicans who have been fighting all their lives for the republican principles.

This will bring on a great row in the party. If another new convert is appointed over the head of the old guardsmen there will be lively trouble. The Buck element are disposed to kick even now. They feel that the jobs now lying loose are too scarce to be given away to men who have never voted but one republican ballot and who have been fighting the party all their lives until the last campaign.

Mr. De Leon's brother states that Perry De Leon has always been a protectionist even while supporting the democratic ticket. Mr. De Leon has a fine record in the confederate naval service and he was a participant in some of the most stirring naval battles of the civil war.

He is now in Washington, but his home is in Savannah. He first came into prominence in the commercial world by his great fight on the high-priced guanos. When fertilizers were selling at $75 a ton he jumped into the field and reduced the price at one clip to $40. A big fight followed, but De Leon held out and at last had the satisfaction of seeing guano sell for a fifth of what it brought when he first entered the field.

For eign stocks were better, mines were good eign stocks were better, mines were good and there was a generally hopeful feeling. The Behring sea dispute is disregarded in the city. Americans were firm, but there was little buying here, except of second class bonds, which were largely dealt in. A large block of bonds of one of the railways was placed here today. A further fall is announced in the rates of the banks of Bombay and Bengal. The rupee loan will probably be out this week.

The Paris and Berlin markets were steady to firm.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, July 15.—This morning's developments have all been bullish. The weather map showed that no rain fell anywhere in the cotton belt yesterday. Liverpool advices this morning were distinctly better than had been expected, and the speculative demand showed indications of a broadening tendency. The effect of these influences was to cause an opening advance of from 5 to 10 points. A good demand was in evidence at the opening, under the influence of which prices scored a slight further improvement. Liverpool was a liberal buyer at the opening, and the demand from this source was largely instrumental in bringing about the improvement. The Liverpool market has recently developed surprising firmness, and just as it led the decline last autumn, it now seems disposed to take the initiative in bringing about an improvement. Toward noon prices eased off slightly after the buying power became exhausted, aded by some selling for New Orleans account, but the market still-shows a very firm undertone. The feeling still continues moderately bullish, and general opinion favors a considerable advance if the drought conditions in the southwest are not soon broken. The fact that hot winds now appear to have set in in Texas aggravates the situation, and a few complaints of damage have been received. New York soot sales 1,143 bales; midling uplands 7 15-16c. Liverpool spot sales 8,000; middling 4 9-32d. Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter. New York, July 15.—The weather report this morning shows ho rain over the cotton belt, and the sensitiveness of the market was shown in the resulting advance of 12 points on January from the close last even-ing. This in time was partially lost when ing. This in time was partially lost when the predictions were posted of showers in Arkansas this evening, with wind in Texas veering to the westerly. These, it was thought, might bring rain with them, though the officials make no such forecast. January on this declined to 7.16. Cables from the continent are reassuring as to business, and Liverpool has been a buyer in a moderate quantity. Telegrams from Texas are conflicting. Our own dispatches refer to hot, parching winds damaging the Texas are conflicting. Our own dispatches refer to hot, parching winds damaging the crop. Others in the market are unqualifiedly good, the inquiry for spot cofton continues, and while early bales are being reported. If the demand continues it is difficult to see from what source it will be supplied. During the afternoon an easler feeling developed and the market responded, and offerings were made on the supposition that the weather would soon favor the crop. The occasional new bales are not without influence.

New York, July 15.—By Associated Press: The cotton market opened firm, with prices higher by 6@9 points. There was a further advance of 1@6 points, with the market finally steady at a net garlof 2@5 points. Total sales futures 129.800 bales. The early phases of the market were generally builish, the English cables showing decided strength. Considerable of the cotton bought here this morning was for Liverpool account. Wall street and New Crieans parties were moderate buyers. Shorts were disposed to cover and the forenoon market was exceptionally active for these times. Further reports of unbroken drought in Texas and Arkansas, and the increasing difficulty in getting spot supplies were at the bottom of the rise abroad as well as here. Following and the increasing difficulty in getting spot supplies were at the bottom of the rise abroad as well as here. Following the noon call the market developed an easier feeling as the result of realizing by longs. Local sentiment, as a rule, continues very firm, with everything depending on the weather as to the future course of the market.

The Dry Goods Market. The Dry Goods Market.

New York, July 15.—The market for dry goods is still quiet. Buyers are reticent about buying goods in cotton lines until the price question has been definitely decided. Staple cottons ruled steady today, with sellers refusing to do future business at present prices to any large extent. Bleached goods are firmer on account of the curtailed production any buyers present in the market. The market for denims has had some impetus from manufacturers' requirements within the last few days. Other coarse colored cottons are quiet in nearly all grades. Print cloths and printed goods are quiet.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, July 15.—(Special.)—Business in the cotton market was fairly active today. Liverpool astonished the trade this morning by completely ignoring yesterday's decline here and by cableing us an advance of 1 ½-64d. Our market opened firm from 2 to 9 points higher. Heavy buying, orders from Liverpool caused a slight further advance after the opening, but the demanr was soon exhausted, and for the remainder of the session the undertone of the market was rather easy. There was no rain in the cotton belt, but showers were predicted in Arkansas tonight. August opened at 7.48, advanced to 7.53, declined to 7.49, railled to 7.52 declined to 7.49, railled to 7.52 declined to 7.49, railled to 7.52 declined to 7.49 railled to 1.52 declined to 7.53 and closed at that figure with the tone of the market steady. The trading in August is now largely confined to the professional oprators, and aas it is no longer a representative month, we will quote January hereafter. The fall and winter months at one time today were 12 points above last night's closing prices. The weather will rule the fluctuations for the present. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atwood, Violett, Lockwood & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York. July 15.—This day last year was the lowest of a decline that started in the spring. Crop estimated were about 11.000.000 bales and the preceding crop had been 10.000.000. From the 15th of July to the 10th of September, January rose 257 points owing to hot, dry weather. The same conditions, though not so accentuated, caused strength of the past few days. Continued dryness will bring more uneasiness to over-sanguine sellers, while more rainfall will make them more hopeful as to a profitable sale at prices now and recently current. The zpot demand will be continuous for what remains of the present crop in the United States and the demand for new receipts promises to be very large, well into October anyhow. The world will realize in the next inlety days how indispensable is American cotton to its spinning requirements. Exporters are selling shipments of the next crop most sparingly, which means that spinners must buy the actual cotton when it is marketed. This promises lively competition in September, October and November.

The Liverpool and Port Karkets. Liverpool, July 15-12:15 p. m.—Cotton, spot de-mand moderate with prices hardenling; middling up-lands 40-32; sales 8.000 bales; American 7.000; spec-lation and expert500; receipts none; American none.

Chicago, July 15.—Wheat today opened at a %c advance and added another %c to the price before the session was over. The fine weather was too much for corn and oats, declines of about 1/2c each being the result of the day's trading in those Provisions closed at a small advance all around.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter. Atlanta, July 15.—Notwithstanding the fields and prospects of a large movemen next week of new wheat, the local speculative market has been strong and higher today, influenced almost wholly by the for eign situation and the strength in Liverpool and Paris, the former closing % to1%c pool and Paris, the former closing % toll%d and the latter from 20 to 30 centimes higher. Cables indicate very light offerings from the interior of Russia, and as a consequence a firm tone to the cash market in that country, while at the seaboard a sale 150,000 is reported for Argentine account, and in addition general good buying by exporters. While there has been free selling on hard spots, the wheat was well absorbed, although reactions caused by this selling were quite numerous, but of rather short duration. On the whole the market has shown an advancing tendency, and but for the very bearish crop reports and the expectancy of a large movement of new wheat the foreign news would undoubtedly have caused a greater advance than that established, which was about 14 per bushel. The situation is shaping itself into a very perfilexing one for the trade, and to arrive at a correct solution of the probable trend of pinces during the next month or so seems a very difficult matter. During the past few weeks the bears have taken dvantage of all the depressing circumstances, and still maintain that their position is the correct one, but the change of sentiment abroad may put different hue on the situation and cause a greater advance than most of its friends are looking for.

The market in corn there was some liquidation by holders who were not successful in disposing of their lines on the advance and who did not appear inclined to hold on much longer in the face of the favorable crop reports. and the latter from 20 to 30 centimes higher

COUNCILMAN MADDOX OPPOSES REWARD

He Said It Would Set a Bad Precedent and Argued Against the Proposed Action.

The man who was the companion of the desperado who shot down Patrolman Alpert may get $250 if he will come up and tell who the murderous assailant was. He will get this snug sum and his liberty for the greatly desired piece of information Council passed a resolution authorizing the mayor to offer a reward of $250 for the arrest, with evidence to convict, of the man who shot Patrolman R. L. Albert or Broad street several nights ago, yesterday

This action was taken on recommendation of the police committee of the council and Captain J. W. English, chairman of the board of police commissioners. The latter appeared before council and spoke in favor of the proposition, explaining the fitness of the action from his standpoint.

There was but one dissenting voice in council when the question came to a vote Councilman Maddox strongly opposed the offering of the reward because he said it would set a bad precedent.

After the adoption of the resolution and adjournment of the council the aldermanic board was called in special session and the resolution was concurred in. The resolution presented by the police committee and presented by the police committee and adopted reads as follows:

"Resolved, That the mayor be and is hereby authorized to after a reward of $250 for the arrest and delivery to the authorities of Fulton county, with evidence to convict, of the person who assaulted and shot Policeman R. L. Albert in this city on the morning of July 13, 1897, and the nayor is further empowered to prescribe such limitations as to time in which arrest is to be made as he sees proper. The above amount is to be taken from the contingent fund."

When the council was called to order by Mayor Pro Tem. Dimmock, the official call was read. The resolution was then read. Mr. Hirsch, chairman of the police committee, said the committee had acted in the matter at the request of Captain English, chairman of the board, who was present. He moved to suspend the rules and Cap-tain English was invited to address the council on the subject

Captain Erglish Speaks to Council.

Captain English said:
"I have given this matter serious thought and consideration and am fully convinced, gentlemen, that it is the duty of the council to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of the outlaw who brutally shot a reward will be an aid to the others in the search for the would-be assassin and ack up your police department in a case of this kind. The officer was shot down without provocation and every effort should be made to bring the guilty man to justice. The city should protect its officers in the discharge of their duty and in this case it is especially urgent that you take the ac-

reward to any member of the police departs ment if he arrests the criminal, Captain English said such was not the intention of those moving in the matter. He said the reward would revert to the city if an officer should make the arrest, it being unlawful for members of the department to accept rewards except under certain conditions. Captain English says the reward will be given to the man who was with the negro who shot the officer if he will tell who it

Alderman Hirsch said Officer Albert was a good, faithful policeman and that the city should offer the proposed reward for the ar-Councilman Maddox Opposes It.

Councilman Maddox said he was sorry to disagree with Captain English and others in the matter, but that he thought it would be a bad precedent to offer a reward in such cases. He said there is no necessity and that the offering of a reward would start a custom of offering rewards every time an officer is hurt or attacked by un-known parties. He said a policeman expects to face danger and that he gets paid for it. He said the city and county pay out about $175,000 annually for the support of the police and sheriff's officers and that they ought to capture criminals.

He said no reward was offered for the arrest of the slayer of Huckabee, the drug clerk, who was killed by a burglar recently, and that it was no more proper for the city to offer a reward for the arrest of a man who attacks a policeman than for a cit-lzen. He believed in sustaining the police force, but thought it would be a mistake to offer rewards. He wanted to increase the police force.

Mr. Culberson spoke in favor of the reso to use every effort to see that the criminal is captured and punished. It was an outrage, he said, which should not go unpunished.

Fortunately it seems to be the case that the manufacturers of the city have a good supply of fuel on hand, or it might go hard with them. Some of the dealers say that the price will advance, but not much, and others say that it has already advanced, and will probably go Mr. George W. Sciple was approached strike was affecting his firm. He said:

"Well, we have been affected some, of course, but not to any great extent. We have not to any great extent. We have not to any great amount of it on hand. It just amounts to this: We have enough coal to supply the immediate demand of our customers, such as orders for one or two tons, but should we receive an order for ten or twenty tons for winter use, the buyer would have to wait until we received it from the mine operators. I do not appreheid that there will be a famine as a result/of the coal strike, nor do I believe that the price will advance much."

Mr. John T. Stocks was also seen. He said: "Yes, we have advanced the price of coal some, and it was attributable to the strike. So far the price has gone up about 20 or 25 cents a ton, according to the grade, but I do not think it will advance much higher. We have had no trouble at all, so far, in filling orders. I do not think there will be a famine in the market, and believe we can continue to fill orders as fast as they come in." strike was affecting his firm. He said: we can continue to fill orders as fast as they come in."

Several of the manufacturers were seen, and they either reported that they have a supply of fuel on hand or that they are under contract and leave such matters to the dealers from whom they buy.

That country also prohibits chilaren under fourteen from engaging in the same occupation. The reason is that selling papers is considered to be a dangerous occupation on the crowded streets." A story is going the rounds about a hidden hand in the creation of the Blalock investigating committee. While that committee is probing into all the affairs mittee is probing into all the affairs of state, searchlights are being turned on the committee itself. The gentlemen and their work have been discussed more than anything else in the state during the last few days. The committee was appointed under a resolution adopted by the house at the extra session last February. Representative Blalock took the house by surprise when he sprang the subject. The house had met to hear the report of its special committee which had been appointed to investigate Senator Yancey Carter's charges against Judges Reese and Sweat. There had been no-previous notice of a purpose to secure the appointment of a committee to investigate the state's various departments. Soon after the committee was appointed the gossips began to ascribe motives. Various suggestions have been made on this line, the latest being an intimation that Representative Martin Calvin, of Richmond county, had a hand in the matter.

The last issue of the Elberton Tribun The last issue of the Elberton Tribune intimates this and connects Mr. Calvin's interest in getting an investigation with his possible candidacy for commissioner of agriculture. Below is the article from The Tribune, and the significance of it lies in the fact that Representatice Tom Swift, a member of the committee, is from Elbert. The Tribune says.

"WHO SHALL PAY THE FIDDLER?"

"It is presumed that Hon. Martin V. Calvin, of Richmond, will oppose Hon. R. T. Nesbitt for commissioner of agriculture. "And thereby hangs a tale that shall remain untold, which may or may not have reference to the Blalock investigating committee and its work. The shifting scenes of the story might touch at Eiberton, for along in February last, we believe it was, Mr. Calvin paid Eiberton a visit of several days. The closest kind of questioning failed to draw from him the object of his visit. Presumably he was representing some building and loan association, or any other old thing, but really, as the slang phrase goes, 'he had other fish to fry.'

"What bearing this visit had on the Blalock committee's investigation of the agricultural department, over which he (Calvin) aspires to preside, is left to the sterility of imagination, but as folks will talk, the question might be asked:

"Shall the state or Mr. Calvin pay the expenses attendant upon the Blalock investingting committee's work? The sum in all probability will be quite a round one, and if the taxpayers propose to shoulder the burden of campaign expenses of every aspirant for political honors, they are indeed and in truth to be pitied."

Mr. Calvin, while in Elberton, had one or more interviews with his fellow repre-"WHO SHALL PAY THE FIDDLER?" Mr. Calvin, while in Elberton, had one or more interviews with his fellow representative, Mr. Swift, and The Tribune implies that the member from Richmond was working up the investigating committee

Among yesterday's arrivals at the Kimball were: Messrs, J. J. Branan, Sa-vannah; C. F. Brown and wife, Georgia; Charles T. Askew, New York; H. W. How-ard, Cartersville, and W. M. Reed; Benton, Ky.

Among the Aragon's arrivals were Messrs. E. E. Paine, Louisville; J. I. Wright, Macon; H. M. Comer, Birmingham: TF. Wimberly, Birmingham: Ernest W. Cooke, New York, and Gerson Coblens, New York.

Colonel Wiley Burnett, of Athens, was in Atlanta yesterday.

M. A. O'Byrne, one of the receivers of the Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association, is at the Aragon. He says that new evidences of ex-President Hale's rascality are developing every day. Hale's defalcation is pronounced to be by far the largest that ever occurred in Georgia.

President Washburne, of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad, passed through Atlanta yesterday afternoon. He was on his way from New York to Kansas City and came down on the Southern's vestibuled. Mr. Washburne stated that business conditions were looking a little brighter in the east and he believed that the south was more than holding her own as compared with other sections.

When Your System is CLOSE UP SHOP DraggedDown

The most terrible and devitalizing disease of the present day is nervous debility, brought about by indiscretions, overindingence, and secret violations of the laws of health. Its origin dates back to pre-historic times, and has increased to such an alarming degree as to become one of the streatest destructors of the human body.

Men of every class, of every creed, of every walk in life, are conscious of the visible effects in their own lives, from indiscretions of their youth, which have followed them through all the succeeding years. They feel at times, when business triats and worry require their close application and strict attention to bridge over some impending catastrophe, that they lack the force and vigor and strength of mind are thus compelled to lag behind, while the stronger one wins success.

Most every person, young, middle-aged and old, has experienced the feeling of their own body being undermined by drains upon their system, weakening the organs, and preventing their proper function.

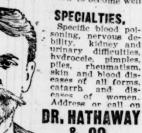

Nervous debility is characterized by a shrinking from the society of others, falling memory, eleeplessness, melancholy, irritableness, and a disposition to look upon the gloomy side of life. There is a lack of ambition and difficulty to keep the mind fixed on one thing.

Dr. Hathaway & Co. have made a lifelong study of this disease. Under their treatment the sufferer is strengthened at once. The body becomes erect, the step firm and the spirits buoyant. Every weakening drain upon the system is checked and the patient's weight increases.

Nothing like Dr. Hathaway & Co.'s system has ever been known for the cure of adaly being dragged down by the results of past indiscretions, you can at your own pleasure find at once the essential relief and cure.

If you live out of the city, no matter where, Dr. Hathaway & Co. have provided

The general consensus of opinion seems to be that it would not be worth while to expend several thousand dollars on the old

These sub-committees will go to work at once investigating their different lines. The building committee will look into the ce of real estate near the church and ind out if the church property would bring a reasonable sum. Not Satisfied with One Defeat, He Will

HAS CHALLENGED BERT REPINE

They Will Try the Race Over Again at the Coliseum Next Tuesday Night.

The race between Bob Walthour and Bert Repine that took place last Tues-day night will be repeated next Tuesday night. Robine is champion of the south and Walthour tree! to defeat him in a match race last week. When the race was over Repine was still champion and Bob Walthour had only strengthened his de-termination to take that title from him. Bob Walthour is not only a very fast rider but he is a very gritty one, and he will never give up until he has shown Repine his rear wheel in a race. Walthour went into the race last week against the advic of his friends, and when he knew he was not in condition. He takes his defeat in a very manly way and does not put u his bad condition as an excuse for losing but rather uses it as a reason for belleving that he can beat Repine next Tuesday. During the time that Walthour was on the northern tracks he had seven bad-falls and was badly bruised up. When stripped he presents a bad spectacle, and it is plain to any one that he was not in fit condition to ride when he did. Wal-thour's object in coming home was not to race but rest up before going to the national meet in Philadelphia. After his arrival here Prince persuaded him to go in the race against Repine and he was defeated. But he is not satisfied and he will try the some restarts. feated. But he is not satisfied and he will try the same match over next Tuesday night at the colliseum. The excitement over the match next Tuesday is even greater than it was last week, and there is more Walthour money in sight than can find takers. Mr. Gus Castle placed $100 with Dick Murphy yesterday that he wants to bet that Waithour will defeat Repine.

Dick Murphy has the money at his place of business on Marietta street and the bet or part of it is open to any takers. Other large bets have already been placed and before the race there will be hundreds of dollars up on the outcome. In the last match between these two men several hundred dollars were sent from Nashille to be wagered that Repine would win, and it is very likely that more money will be sent to wager on the coming match. Both men are hard-at work this week and they will be in better form next week than ever. Walthour especially will be in better condition.

Elliott and Kline, the two amateurs that raced some time ago, will have another match race next Tuesday night also. The race between these two men will be remembered as the best race ever seen on the coliseum track, when Ellictt just did beit Kline across the line. Mr. Gus Castle also has a bet of $100 on this race that has been covered. He is training Kline and he is very confident that he will turn-the tables on Elliott in the next race and show him how it is to be defeated. Elliott is also at work and he will have something to say about getting beat next Tuesday night. These two match races will draw large crowds to the coliseum next Tuesday night and they will probably be better than any races we have had this year.

GAME RIDER, IS WALTHOUR PEACHES AND LEMONS DOUBLE IN PRICE

d. DEVUM on merent comment programs

These Popular Luxuries Double in Market Value in One Day.

CAUSED BY LIMITED CROPS

Georgia Peach Crop Is Short and of Inferior Quality.

LEMONS, IT IS THOUGHT, WILL GO HIGHER

Were Selling at $3 a Box, Now Bring $6 and May Go to $10-Missouri Hase Become a Peach State.

The luscious Georgia peach and the juicy emon are becoming expensive luxuries.

Within the last two days the price of both of these fruits has almost doubled, and the price is still rapidly rising.

This will be bad news to the lovers of Queen Elbertas, and it will prove especially crushing to the lemonade fiend. Ice tea will have to be drunk without a nice lemon to squeeze into the amber liquid, and the whisky sours will cost more.

The advance in the price has been sudden and unexpected. Peaches were selling yesterday for twice as much as on the price. terday for twice as much as on the pre-ceding day, and lemons were also doubled in price. At fruit stands peaches were re-tailing at 5 cents apiece for the larger size that have been selling at two and three for a nickel. The commission houses have run up their scale of prices on both fruits until a man is startled who asks the price of a how of lemons or a crite of reaches. of a box of lemons or a crate of peaches. Lemons that have been selling at $3 a box have gone to $6, and Mr. McCullough, the well-known commission man, said yester-day that he really thought the best grade of lemons would reach $10 a box before the price starts downward.

The reason for the sudden jump in price is that the lemon crop in this country has been a failure. All of the higher grades of lemons have been shipped from Sicily and Italy. The Louisiana crop has not been much, and the other producing states have failen snort.

The price of lemons will remain high until some time in August, when the domestic crop begins to come into market.

mestic crop begins to come into market. Then the price will drop probably to its normal scale.

Peaches will command a high price throughout the entire season. They are up to stay. The Georgia crop was a failure, so far as a large yield is concerned, and the greater part of the crop has already been marketed. The inferior peaches are marketed first. Those now on the market are of a fine grade and are worth good prices. The Georgia crop will find great competition this year from a hitherto unknown competitor. This year Atlanta will buy large shipments of peaches from Missouri, which has heretofore offered no peaches for any beside home markets. It seems that during the last four years the farmers of Missouri living at the foot of Ozark mountains have devoted themselves to fruit growing. The results have been surprising. Mr. McCullough, who has examined the product, says that finer Elberta peaches are raised on the mountain sides in Missouri than can be grown in California or Georgia. He predicts that Missouri will be a great fruit state in the future, and says that even as early as this year there are several places in the state that will ship peaches by the car load lots.

The peach crop in California is reported to be fine. The peaches are not yet coming into Georgia at a very great rate, but it will not be long before there will be lots of foreign fruit. mestic crop begins to come into market. Then the price will drop probably to its
